GENERAL INFORMATION

ALL those textbooks currently approved for use in Manitoba are printed in RED. Recommended materials are printed in BLACK immediately below the approved textbooks.

In some cases, books may be out-of-print and no longer available. Schools may continue to use these books if they have sufficient copies.

If the book is out-of-print, it is marked "Out of Print".

Where the Textbook Bureau has the book in stock, a stock number is listed.

If the book is not carried in stock, the letters "NS" are shown in place of a stock number.

Titles for use in the Occupational Entrance Program Pattern are shown in a separate group under the subject heading section (first part of the catalogue) and with the notation "OEP" after them in the alphabetical section (second part of the catalogue).

From time to time books are removed from the approved textbook listing because of changes in the curriculum. When this is to happen, the item is marked with an asterisk * and will be shown in this manner for two years prior to removal from the list so that schools have lead time to make adjustments and will not unnecessarily order material which is due to be removed from the listing. Such material may continue to be used as supplementary material if the content remains compatible with the revised curriculum. Items marked  will not be listed again in the catalogue.

Where a subject, i.e. Social Studies, is currently under revision and it is likely that textual changes will be recommended, the subject heading has been marked (+) to draw this to the attention of readers.

"PRINT & NON-PRINT INSTRUCTIONAL MATERIALS" GRANT

This grant is for textbooks, library books, reference books, workbooks, film strips, slides, charts, maps, motion pictures, phonodiscs, audio tapes, recordings, testing material, computer software, and other such instructional materials. It also includes the cost of textbook repairs. It does NOT include equipment or hardware.

MISCELLANEOUS SECTION

These materials are listed and/or carried in stock at the Bureau for the conveniences of teachers. Most of this material has not yet been reviewed by the Manitoba Education. Administrators and teachers are requested to select carefully from this section.

TO LOCATE AN ITEM IN THIS CATALOGUE

THE CATALOGUE IS DIVIDED INTO TWO PARTS.

FIRST PART — BY SUBJECT HEADINGS, ALPHABETICALLY: THEN BY EARLY (K-4), MIDDLE (5-8), AND SENIOR (9-12) YEARS GRADE LEVEL: CATALOGUE NUMBERS IN NUMERICAL ORDER; TITLES ALPHABETICALLY WITH PRICES.

SECOND PART — INDIVIDUAL & SERIES TITLES LISTED ALPHABETICALLY WITH CATALOGUE NUMBERS AND SUPPLIER'S CODE LETTERS LISTED.

SUPPLIER'S CODES & ADDRESSES LISTED AT BACK OF CATALOGUE.

ORDERING INFORMATION

PINK ORDER FORM —

To order items listed in this catalogue that have a STOCK NUMBER, the PINK order form supplied free of charge by the Bureau MUST BE USED.

These forms are available from your School Principal, School Division Office, or on request from the Bureau. Only items stocked at the Bureau are to be ordered on this form.

1. List items in numerical sequence, as follows:
 - (a) Stock Number
 - (b) Description
 - (c) Quantity
 - (d) Price
 - (e) Extended Total
2. Remove the last page of the order and retain at the school for your records.
3. Forward the remaining copies with carbons intact to your School Division Office.
4. The School Division will sign the form, assign a purchase order number if required, remove the last page for their records and forward the form to the Bureau.

WHITE ORDER FORM —

To order items listed in this catalogue that are shown with the letters "NS" in place of a stock number and all other print and non-print materials that are not stocked at the Bureau. These forms are supplied by the Bureau.

Please show all description details to ensure proper identification of requested items, and follow instructions, 2, 3 and 4 from pink order form notes.

ALL ORDERS PLACED ON BEHALF OF SCHOOL DIVISIONS OR SCHOOL DISTRICTS MUST HAVE THE SIGNATURE OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER, THE SEAL & THE NUMBER OF THE SCHOOL DIVISION OR DISTRICT RESPONSIBLE FOR PAYMENT.

ORDERS BY INDIVIDUALS MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY REMITTANCE.

INFORMATION REGARDING RECENTLY APPROVED TEXTS & SUPPLEMENTARY MATERIALS MAY BE FOUND IN THE ANNOTATIONS (1985) PUBLISHED BY MANITOBA EDUCATION. Titles listed in the annotations are in the catalogue.

ITEMS MARKED (X) ARE SUBJECT TO MANITOBA REVENUE TAX.

Prices are subject to change without notice. Most prices expire December 31, 1985.

NOTE: It would greatly facilitate handling of orders if schools could get their orders for September School Opening in to the Textbook Bureau by JUNE 1st, 1985.

RETURNS POLICY

INSTRUCTION MATERIALS OVER-ORDERED OR INCORRECTLY ORDERED MAY BE RETURNED PREPAID TO THE BUREAU PROVIDING THEY HAVE NOT BEEN STAMPED WITH THE NAME OF THE SCHOOL OR DIVISION AND WERE PURCHASED IN THE CURRENT SCHOOL YEAR. CREDIT LESS A HANDLING CHARGE OF NOT MORE THAN 10% WILL BE ISSUED. ORDERS FILLED INCORRECTLY ARE NOT SUBJECT TO A RESTOCKING CHARGE.

TEXTBOOK PREVIEWING

The Manitoba Education Library has copies of all the authorized Manitoba textbooks, K-12, available for loan to teachers and administrators throughout the province. This collection of textbooks is designed to facilitate teacher evaluation of materials before actual purchases are recommended. For teachers requesting this service, the Library will mail to a maximum of 4 different titles for a four week loan with postage paid both ways by Manitoba Education. A non-circulating display copy of each authorized textbook will also be kept in the Library for teacher examination.

For further information or to borrow, please contact:

"MULTI-MEDIA KIT PREVIEWING"

Media Productions (MP), a section of Instructional Media Services of Manitoba Education, produces multi-media kits designed specifically to meet the needs of Manitoba teachers. All of the Media Production kits are listed for sale in this catalogue. For future information on these kits, request from the Manitoba Education Library a copy on the Kit Brochure. In addition, the kits are available for loan from the Library and a complete set is available for display only.

CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT & IMPLEMENTATION BRANCH

APPROVED & RECOMMENDED MATERIALS FOR PROGRAMS OF STUDY K-12

INTRODUCTORY STATEMENT —

APPROVED TEXTBOOKS —

Books listed in this category are those which have been identified and selected by curriculum committees as primary resource material for the teaching of a particular course. ALL THESE ITEMS APPEAR IN RED. These books have the approval of the Minister of Education for use in schools. However, because of the wide selection of materials identified, the final responsibility for selecting materials from the approved listing for local use rests with the school board.

RECOMMENDED MATERIALS —

Recommended materials are those items which have also been identified and selected by curriculum committees as support materials. When textbooks do not contain all of the content covered by the curriculum guide, they may not be listed as primary support or "approved". Nevertheless, they may be an excellent resource for a portion of the course and as such, they have been recommended as additional support material. In most cases, classroom sets of these materials would not be required. Listed in this category are teacher's editions of approved textbooks and various teacher and student resources including audio visual materials. For your convenience, some of these items are specifically identified as Teacher Resource (TR) or Student Resource (SR).

Recommended materials are in BLACK print.

ENGLISH AS A SECOND LANGUAGE

Books listed in the Adult E.S.L. Section were selected on the basis of recommendations submitted by adult E.S.L. teachers and on current levels of usage for specific titles.

Books listed under the Children's Section were selected on the basis of reviews carried out by an E.S.L. Material Selection Committee and current level of usage for specific titles.

PROCEDURES FOR ORDERING BOOKS FOR ADULT E.S.L. CLASSES

Under a federal-provincial agreement, language textbooks used for teaching English to adult immigrants are supplied free of charge to school divisions authorized to offer adult E.S.L. courses by Manitoba Education. All school divisions are responsible for exercising control over textbooks to ensure inventory management.

1. The Secretary Treasurer of a school division must first obtain authorization to offer Adult E.S.L. courses. The request must be submitted to the Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training, Adult & Continuing Education Branch, Manitoba Education, Room 313-1200 Portage Ave., Winnipeg, Manitoba R3G 0T5.
2. Appropriate school division staff must prepare the M.T.B. order forms:
 - pink, for books listed in the catalogue with a stock number
 - white (special), for books not listed or shown with the letters NS instead of a stock number
3. The forms should have the "sold to" and "ship to" portions completed as follows:

SOLD TO:

Manitoba Education
Adult & Continuing Education
Branch
Room 313 - 1200 Portage Avenue
Winnipeg, Manitoba
R3G 0T5

SHIP TO:

Name of School Division
Name/Address of Person responsible for receiving books and returning packing slips(s).

4. The Secretary-Treasurer of the school division must sign the completed book order and send it to:
Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training
Manitoba Education
Room 313 - 1200 Portage Avenue
Winnipeg, Manitoba
R3G 0T5
5. When the books arrive, the person receiving them on behalf of the school division must sign the packing slip (or invoice if that is what accompanies the shipment) to indicate the goods have been received. He/she must then return the packing slip (or invoice) to the Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training. (see #4 above for address).

NOTE: If a shipment arrives with no packing slip (or invoice) please notify the Co-ordinator of Adult Language Training in writing giving the titles and quantities received and the date the order was placed.

TEACHER REFERENCE

NOTE: These will not normally be kept in stock at Manitoba Text Book Bureau, special order forms will be required. Only one copy of each ordered text will be approved per institution.

BUREAU DE L'ÉDUCATION FRANÇAISE

GUIDE DE COMMANDE

TOUS LES DOCUMENTS ÉNUMÉRÉS DANS CE CATALOGUE PEUVENT ÊTRE COMMANDÉS AU CENTRE DES MANUELS SCOLAIRES DU MANITOBA.

Les prix peuvent changer sans préavis.

Les documents précédés d'un numéro sont en stock. Ils peuvent être commandés en remplissant la formule de commande rose en cinq copies, fournies par le Centre des manuels scolaires du Manitoba.

Vous pouvez obtenir ces formules auprès de votre directeur d'école, du bureau de votre division scolaire, ou sur demande au Centre des manuels scolaires.

Si un document n'est pas en stock mais est disponible chez l'éditeur, il est précédé des lettres "PS" signifiant "pas en stock" et est suivi de l'abréviation pour la maison d'édition.

Si un document est épuisé, il est précédé d'un blanc et est suivi de la notation "épuisé".

FORMULE DE COMMANDE ROSE

1. Énumérer les documents en ordre numérique, comme suit:

- (a) Numéro du document en dépôt
- (b) Description
- (c) Quantité
- (d) Prix
- (e) Total

Votre demande sera remplie plus rapidement si tous les documents sont commandés en ordre numérique, puisque les documents en dépôt sont déjà présentés dans ce même ordre numérique.

2. Enlever la dernière copie de la commande afin de la mettre dans les filières de l'école.
3. Envoyer les quatre autres copies avec les papiers carbonés au bureau de votre division scolaire.
4. Le bureau de votre division scolaire signera la formule de commande, assignera un numéro d'achat si nécessaire, enlèvera la dernière copie de la formule de commande pour leur filière, et fera suivre les trois autres copies au Centre des manuels scolaires du Manitoba.

FORMULE DE COMMANDE BLANCHE

Pour commander tout document qui est précédé des lettres "PS" ou tout autre document ne figurant pas dans ce catalogue vous devez vous servir de la formule de commande blanche.

NOTE

The following is an annotated listing of new textbooks recently approved for use in 1985-86.

The listing is intended to be used in conjunction with, AND NOT TO REPLACE, Annotations of Recently Approved Textbooks and List of Supplementary Material (1973 and 1975), Changes and Additions to Annotations of Recently Approved Textbooks and Lists of Supplementary Materials (1974), Annotations of Recently Approved Textbooks and List of Supplementary Materials 1967-77, Recently Approved Textbooks with Annotations 1977-78, 1978-79, 1979-80, 1980-81, 1981-82, 1982-83, 1983-84, 1984-85 and The Manitoba Textbook Bureau 1985-86 Catalogue.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

1. Appelbaum, et al. Contemporary Canadian Business. Toronto: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, 1984.

This text utilizes a sound pedagogical approach as it helps students learn about business. Each chapter begins with a list of specific learning objectives, a profile of a real businessperson and a short case to illustrate that chapter's specific subject matter. Each chapter is illustrated with tables, figures, examples, boxed focus items and vocabulary building exercises. A summary, a list of key terms, review questions, discussion questions and exercises, and two case studies conclude each chapter.

Material is presented in a lively manner with current real-world examples. A balanced presentation of applications and examples from both small and big business is maintained throughout. The text also provides students with detailed current information on different careers in business. It offers descriptions of careers in each functional area as well as devoting one chapter exclusively to helping students evaluate possible careers and to guiding them through each step in the career search process.

Contemporary Canadian Business is supplemented by a Learning Aid which reinforces the concepts learned in the text. An Instructor's Resource Manual is also available.

2. Farmer, et al. Keyboarding: Business Applications. Toronto: Gage Educational Publishing Ltd., 1985.

This text is a new edition of the popular introductory typewriting text Business Applications in Typewriting. The emphasis in the new edition is on the development of keyboarding skills and applications. These skills may be developed on typewriters, word processors, or personal computers and the text addresses this variety of equipment.

The emphasis on the first two components of the text is on the development of alphabetic and non-alphabetic keyboards as well as the number pad which is most frequently found on computers and word processors. To reflect current practices in offices, a large percentage of the exercises are in rough draft or handwritten form to develop the student's proofreading and editing skills.

Additional keyboarding exercises and composition activities are offered in the appendices which also concentrate on production skills through the use of timings on letters, memos, financial reports and straight copy work.

A Student Workbook that provides additional exercises in language usage, proofreading, editing and composition skills is available. Also available for teacher use is a Solutions and Tests Manual and a Blackline Transparency and Duplicating Masters booklet.

3. Forkner. Forkner Shorthand Dictionary for Beginners. Toronto: Gage Educational Publishing Ltd., 1984.

This dictionary incorporates all the vocabulary words from Forkner Shorthand (2nd edition) text and study guide. The dictionary contains outlines for an alphabetic listing of approximately 7,000 words. It includes the syllabication and preferred word division of each of the listed words.

Also included is a list of abbreviated words, standard abbreviations, symbols, common phrases, provinces and territories, principal cities and other geographical names each with its corresponding Forkner shorthand outline.

4. Kwekkeboom, John. Canadian Business and Consumer Studies. Toronto: McGraw-Hill Ryerson Limited, 1984.

In designing this text the author has attempted to introduce topics "in the Canadian way" and his list of acknowledgements includes many Canadian organizations and individuals who were consulted on the issues presented.

The text is divided into two units with the objectives of each unit clearly defined, providing a guideline for both the teacher and the student and allowing for flexibility.

The contents fully meet the requirements of the General Business curriculum. The material is presented in simple straightforward language that is appropriate to the level of students it serves.

Assignments simulating real-life experiences encourage participation by the students. Practical mathematical calculations throughout the text offer a further challenge. Examples of business forms and numerous illustrations and photographs allow the student to relate comfortably to the content in each area.

Teachers will find the Teacher's Manual and Key of assistance in reviewing the assignments.

5. Liepner, Michael. Applying the Law (2nd edition). Toronto: McGraw-Hill Ryerson Limited, 1985.

This text reflects the writer's extensive experiences as a law teacher at the secondary level by providing a practical and realistic approach to the subject for both the teacher as an instructor and the student as a learner.

It is well designed and the content meets with the requirements of the Law 302 curriculum. The format is appealing. It is concise and to the point and the language is at the appropriate reading level.

Supplementary materials include a teacher's manual offering suggestions for various projects and thought-provoking activities as well as outside resources. Also available is a casebook which effectively provides reinforcement of case content.

The author uses some interesting techniques in a well-balanced format to draw attention to certain items:

- quotations of the law are blocked into shaded areas
- cases are printed in a contrasting color
- sections dealing with proposals for change are highlighted by a gavel
- there is a good choice of cartoons

GERMAN

1. Deutsch für junge Leute is a course of studies which endeavors to transmit language study at two levels:

- a) The spoken language, as one hears it spoken by youths and adults in Germany today.
- b) The written language in texts which are interesting to youths.

The "Landeskunde" is an integral part of the course and encompasses all German speaking countries to some degree.

It is an audio-lingual series suitable as a course for beginners in the study of German at the junior high level. The texts are well illustrated with photographs, maps, cartoons and diagrams.

Band 1 - 20 Lessons
Band 2 - 15 Lessons

2. Kayser, Carl. Vorwärts International. Bonn, Federal Republic of Germany: Gilde-Buchhandlung.

Vorwärts International is a course for the teaching of German as a second language to students beginning in grade 4 or later.

The program consists of four parts: K1, K2, K3A + K3B, K4A + K4B.

The first two parts, Vorwärts International, K1 and Vorwärts International, K2 offer an audio-visual approach without emphasis on drills and rote learning, taking into consideration the students' cognitive abilities. As achievement or oral communicative competence is the prime goal, the teaching of grammar is incidental.

The teacher is provided with one manual per volume, which contains useful straightforward information about goals and approaches of the course. K1 and K2 contain a total of 28 lessons following the same basic pattern. Modifications are possible and encouraged. The teacher's manual of K1 contains one lesson plan in detail.

Graded readers can be used after the completion of K1. Their topics are appealing. The number of new words is limited and the context allows the student to guess their meaning. The readers contain assignments that can be dealt with individually as well as in groups.

Vorwärts International, K3 consists of six units which can be found in the student's books K3A and K3B. There is a teacher's manual detailing how the materials are meant to be used.

Vorwärts International, K3 is accompanied by two readers mainly using structures and vocabulary that were introduced earlier on. The texts are entertaining and informative and contain pictures. At the end there are short tests.

Vorwärts International, K4 closely resembles K3. It, too, consists of six units contained in two student books: K4A and K4B.

Each unit contains a core part (Kern) and an expansion (Erweiterung).

3. Schäpers, Roland, Renate Luscher, Manfred Glück. Grundkurs Deutsch. Munich, Federal Republic of Germany: Verlag für Deutsch.

Grundkurs Deutsch is an audio-lingual series suitable for beginning and advanced students in grade 10. The 30 lessons are based on varying types of texts, from short dialogues to newspaper articles. The dialogues are situational (e.g., a brief conversation about cooking and food); they are often humorous; they cover a variety of topics and their content appeals to the age group.

Exercises for listening comprehension, speaking, reading comprehension and writing are an integral part of the program.

The well-illustrated student book is accompanied by a "Grammar Book" which contains charts, exercises and vocabulary for the concepts taught in the lessons. A set of overhead transparencies contains the identical grammar charts for oral presentation and oral exercises. Short listening comprehension texts are available on a compact cassette, as are some of the grammar exercises. Parts of each lesson are also recorded on tape for additional listening and pronunciation practice.

The "Lehrerhandbuch" is particularly useful because it details sequentially each instructional step for each lesson. The transparencies are accompanied by a separate handbook of instructions for the use of each transparency.

With students who have already had an introduction to the language, the teacher could emphasize the grammatical concepts (a progression is contained in the Lehrerhandbuch) as a review and reinforcement as well as an introduction.

4. Schuh, H. and Schuh, E. Komm bitte!, Kurs 1+2, Kurs 3, Kurs 4. Munich: Max Hueber Verlag.

Komm bitte!, Kurs 4 is a further advancement in the teaching of skills learned in Komm bitte!, Kurs 1+2, and Kurs 3. Both Komm bitte!, Kurs 3 and Komm bitte!, Kurs 4 promote cultural awareness in increasing measures by including a greater amount of "Landeskunde" information than Kurs 1+2, making them more suitable for the more advanced, older student.

A concentric teaching model is followed throughout the four parts, making it possible for the student to enlarge the basic sentence structures learned in parts 1 and 2.

Komm bitte!, Kurs 4 consists of six units.

Unit Topics of Komm bitte!, Kurs 4.

- . School
- . City
- . Village
- . Sickness
- . Animals
- . Festivals

5. Stalb, Heinrich. Aufbaukurs Deutsch. Munich, Federal Republic of Germany: Verlag für Deutsch, 1983.

Aufbaukurs Deutsch is a direct continuation of Grundkurs Deutsch, though it can be used as an independent series for advanced students. Its structure is the same as that of Grundkurs Deutsch. It comprises dialogues followed by exercises related to grammar, content and comprehension.

Important grammatical structures are explained systematically (declension of the adjective, modal verbs, passive voice and subjunctive mood, etc.). Exercises dealing with syntactical structures serve as a reinforcement of vocabulary and reading skills.

A test booklet is available.

HOME ECONOMICS

1. Draper, Henry E. and Draper, Wanda. The Caring Parent and Student Guide and Teacher's Resource Guide. Toronto: Copp Clark Pitman, 1983.

The text is compatible with Child Development at an advanced level.

The focus of The Caring Parent is on the importance of building strong parent-child relationships.

The book is divided into three main parts:

- . 'The Responsible Parent' which deals with preparing to be a parent, a new baby, caring environment, clothing, food and nutrition.
- . 'The Guiding Parent' which deals with guiding children's behavior, encouraging children, special needs.
- . 'The Nurturing Parent' deals with helping children to grow, to learn, and to develop social skills.

The Student Guide provides learning activities that may be used individually or in group settings. Examples include:

- . pretests or review questions;
- . observations;
- . case studies;
- . creative writing.

The Teacher's Resource Guide provides student objectives, suggestions for planning, classroom interaction, extended learning experiences, student evaluation, teaching techniques and information for working with special needs students.

2. Henderson, Gail. Dimensions of Life: A Book About Self, Family, Work and Teacher's Manual and Key and Activity Book. Cincinnati, Ohio: South Western Publishing, 1985.

The text is compatible with an introductory level of Family Studies.

This text helps the student to discover, explore and make decisions about the dimensions of life - self, family and work. There are clear learning goals, definitions and applications of key words, current case studies and spotlights on issues that today's families may face. A variety of evaluation suggestions are given for each chapter.

The teacher's manual and answer key contains detailed learning experiences written for the teacher from the students' perspective. The students' activity guide is action-oriented and elicits involvement with peers, family and community.

3. Kefgen, Mary and Touchie-Sprecht, Phyllis. Individuality in Clothing Selection and Personal Appearance (3rd Edition). New York: Macmillan Publishing, 1981.

This text is compatible with the advanced Clothing curricula. Topics include:

- . psychological and sociological influence of clothes;
- . physical aspects of appearance;
- . principles of design;
- . design elements in clothing selection and personal appearance;
- . consumer information;
- . wardrobe coordination to fit individual lifestyles and careers.

Special feature:

- . the future - social changes and fashion are predicted on the basis of energy, population growth and technological influences;
- . special consideration provided for male students (e.g., wardrobe illustrations, design and fit).

The reading level is advanced. There are 554 pages including activities and references in each of the 20 chapters.

4. Hildebrand, Verna. Parenting and Teaching Young Children and Teacher's Manual. New York: Webster Division, McGraw-Hill Book Company, 1981.

This text is compatible with Child Development at an introductory level. The six parts include the following topics:

- . parents and care givers;
- . a new person;
- . the infant;
- . the toddler;
- . the 'prekindergartner';
- . the 'kindergartner'.

Throughout, the following are stressed:

- . parenting skills;
- . care giver skills;
- . child growth and development;
- . nutrition;
- . health and safety.

The teacher's manual includes objectives, chapter summaries, study questions, activities, tests and answers to multiple choice items.

5. Largen, V. L. Guide to Guide Food and Activity Guide (Lusteck). Illinois: Goodheart-Willcox, Inc., 1984.

This text is compatible with the 201/301 Foods and Nutrition curricula.

Comprehensive information includes:

- . nutrition in the life cycle;
- . careers;
- . consumer planning;
- . food groups and preparation;
- . foods of the world.

Special features:

- . food customs and recipes representing 30 countries;
- . metric information;
- . dietary and nutritive value charts;
- . extensive glossary.

The text includes chapter objectives, colorful illustrations, review questions and activities. The Student Guide provides a variety of activities and tests.

This text does not contain information about the global issues of food and resource management.

6. Lewis, Evelyn L. Housing Decisions and Instructor's Guide. South Holland, Illinois: Goodheart-Willcox Company, Inc., 1984.

This comprehensive Housing text is concerned with:

- . homes as an environment for human growth and development;
- . selection of a home;
- . process of furnishing a home;
- . trends in housing;
- . an overview of related careers.

The purpose of the text is to help students apply the decision-making process to the various aspects of housing (Instructor's Guide).

Each chapter begins with a short list of behavioral objectives, followed by lists of related terms, review questions and activities. Measurements are given in both Imperial and Metric units. The Instructor's Guide suggests many methods of evaluating students.

7. Lyle, Dorothy S. and Brinkley, Jeanne. Contemporary Clothing. Bennet Publishing Co., 1983.

This text is compatible with the introductory level of the senior high Clothing curricula. The text is divided into 15 chapters, including the following topics:

- . clothing influences and responsibilities;
- . color and design;
- . fibers, fabrics, and finishes;
- . wardrobe planning and buying;
- . clothing management and care;
- . clothing construction;
- . clothing manufacturing, merchandising and education;
- . careers in textiles.

8. Shank, et al. Guide to Modern Meals: Second Canadian Edition. Toronto: McGraw-Hill Ryerson, Ltd., 1982.

This text is compatible with the 101 Foods and Nutrition curriculum.

The topics include:

- . nutrition issues;
- . food in contemporary Canadian society;
- . consumer planning;
- . food groups and preparation;
- . careers;
- . Canadian resource tables.

Objectives are identified for each chapter. The format effectively uses color to highlight illustrations, diagrams, charts and activities.

9. Smith, Rebecca M. and Apicelli, Mary Lin. Family Matters: Concepts in Marriage and Personal Relationships and Educator's Guide. Glencoe Publishing Co. (Collier Macmillan Canada Ltd.), 1982.

The text is compatible with the 301 Family Studies curriculum. Family Matters 'presents basic facts and contemporary research related to personality development, friendship, family relationships, and parenting.' The book is divided into six units:

- . Understanding Ourselves and Others
- . Living in Families
- . Strategies for Behavior
- . Becoming a Parent

Special features:

- . the use of "empathy" (the students meet six families and discover how family choices are based on attitudes and opinions);
- . concepts and issues (dating, weddings, aging);
- . career outlook (15 different careers dealing with family living);
- . cultures and customs (friendship and family life around the world);
- . "Test Yourself" section;
- . special Consumer Appendix;
- . extensive glossary.

The Educator's Guide includes the following:

- . cross-reference grid which highlights topics to help discussions and/or activities;
- . chapter overview, highlights and vocabulary;
- . learning objectives, activities and evaluative suggestions;
- . answers to test and essay questions;
- . glossary of words and terms;
- . progress plotter chart to record students' scores.

LANGUAGE ARTS

1. Brennan, Peter and Brown, Harry. Echoes 1 & 2. Toronto: Oxford University Press, 1983/84.

Echoes 1 and 2 were developed as literature companions to Telling the World 1 and 2, respectively (Echoes 3 previously listed). These literature anthologies, however, would be used in combination with other instructional texts.

Each of these texts contains an interesting collection of letters, diaries and journals, poetry, essays, short stories and drama. Each text is arranged in three parts:

Echoes 1: Part 1 - "Tales to Tell"
Part 2 - "Tales to Think About"
Part 3 - "Tales to Imagine"

Echoes 2: Part 1 - "Tales of Life and Laughter"
Part 2 - "Tales of the Strange and Scary"
Part 3 - "Tales Without Words"

The Teacher's Guides for Echoes 1 and 2 provide useful information about the selections, suggestions for teaching, and directions for integrating the materials with Telling the World 1 and 2.

A Studentpack is also available for each text which provides a variety of student activities intended for duplication.

2. Parker, John F. The Process of Writing. Addison-Wesley, 1983.

The Process of Writing is similar to the Writing Workshop by the same author. Most of the subdivisions are similar but some new ones have been added, e.g., Expository Essay: Informative; Expository Essay: Argumentative; Filling Out Forms; The Reading Process; Humor and Wit; Instant Writing; Elliptical Constructions; and Literature Selections. Other chapters have been revised or re-titled. The models/examples and writing assignments, however, are more sophisticated and challenging. The format of assignments, workshop, and lab are similar to those in the Writers' Workshop.

The Assignment Section, containing 22 separate units, contains assignments selected to "meet a variety of needs, interests and levels of ability." (academic, business or vocational career), p. 6. Each assignment consists of an introduction and specific suggestions on the various steps of the writing process. Each chapter contains a variety of models - student and professional writing. Prewriting, drafting, revising and polishing processes are the usual pattern for the assignment section. This provides for ease in locating specific information and exercises designed for particular needs.

The Workshop Section containing 22 sections provides background information followed by specific projects intended to assist the user in refining an aspect of writing or assistance in correcting errors. The projects include exercises, games and special writing assignments.

The Laboratory Section containing 16 sections is designed to help students improve their sentence structure. Labs contain a short introduction and the following sections: Explanation; Sentence Work; Suggested Answers; and Paragraph Work.

The instructions for student learning activities are explicit and incorporate a high level of student involvement. The student is involved in choosing the areas in which he/she needs work with the instructor providing guidance. Students would be involved in group work as well as independent learning. Activities would include brainstorming, demonstration, discussion, drill and practice, group projects, interviews, peer tutoring, and written presentations.

The developer gives explicit directions in the Instructor's Manual for using diagnostic writing to evaluate student progress. Examples of compositions of various standards are provided. Grading suggestions are made on pp. 47-49 and an assignment form, p. 54, a mechanics quiz, pp. 55-65 and a progress chart, pp. 67-71 are included.

The developers emphasize diagnostic evaluation for the purpose of providing the student with feedback. The section providing a model for diagnostic writing provides the teacher with material from which pretests can be developed. The purpose of evaluation emphasized by the developer is to make the students more independent writers. A progress chart is suggested to identify problems and to aid in the correction of deficiencies. The emphasis is on writing practice and the evaluation of the students' best pieces.

This text should appeal to older, more capable students than the author's previous text, The Writer's Workshop, and should prove to be of particular use with students who select the Transactional Forms elective.

MATHEMATICS

1. Bye, et al. Holt Math 7 and 8. Toronto: Holt, Rinehart & Winston, 1984.

These books begin with a review and practice of topics developed in earlier grades. Computation and problem solving with whole numbers, decimals and fractions receive good coverage. Practice in measurement and plane geometry are provided.

Ratio and percent, algebra graphing and motion geometry are also covered. Except for Introduction to Integers and Practical Statistics in Holt Math 7 and the Statistics and Probability in Holt Math 8, both texts relate well to the Manitoba curriculum guide.

Each chapter begins with a "Tune Up" exercise and ends with a chapter review and a chapter test. Each chapter also contains some "Mental Math" drills and some "Braintickers" which are thinking or enrichment activities. Most chapters have calculator and/or computer applications. Cumulative reviews are included at the end of each chapter.

Extra practice exercises and three extra chapter tests are provided at the end of the book for each chapter.

2. Ebos, et al. Math Is, 1, 2 and 3. Scarborough, Ontario: Nelson Canada, 1982, 1984, 1985.

These books contain an abundance of practice exercises. Each chapter contains a skills quiz. Practice and Problem: a chapter review, and test for practice as well as calculator puzzlers, computer puzzlers and other puzzlers. At the end of many chapters a "Math Is Plus" section provides a range of ideas and enrichment activities. A "Math Tips" section in each chapter points out short-cuts. A glossary is included at the back of the book. The publisher also provides a correlation of each Math Is book with the objectives in the Manitoba Education curriculum guide.

Teacher's Editions, Answer Keys, and Blackline Masters are available as supplementary material for each of the Math Is 1, Math Is 2 and Math Is 3.

The content in the texts correlate well with the Manitoba curriculum with the following exceptions.

Math Is 1 - Working With Integers, Chapter 13

Math Is 2 - Statistics, Chapter 7

Math Is 3 - Process of Statistics, Chapter 9
- Methods of Mathematics, Chapter 12

3. Fleming, W. and Varberg, D. Algebra and Trigonometry. Englewood Cliffs: Prentice-Hall Inc., 1984.

This hard covered text includes most of the content of Math 300 course. The exercises include skill building questions, applications and problems. Each section includes several worked examples. The book also contains answers to odd numbered problems, tables of natural and common logarithms and trigonometric functions. Chapters cover: Numbers, Exponents and Polynomials, Equations and Inequalities, Coordinates and Curves, Functions and Graphs, Exponential and Logarithmic Functions, Trigonometric Functions, Trigonometric Identities and Equations, Applications of Trigonometry, Theory of Polynomial Equations, Systems of Equations and Inequalities, Sequences and Counting Problems.

The Study Guide has chapter objectives, additional worked examples keyed to the objectives, teaching notes and concepts tests.

The Instructor's Manual contains answers to even numbered problems, chapter tests and keys.

4. Jones, et al. Mathways for Early Childhood. Toronto: Copp Clark Ltd., 1983.

Consists of 192 page book (spiral bound) plus 64 reproducible blackline masters. It is an activity-based mathematics program for the kindergarten classroom. It includes four sections, viz. problem solving, number, measurement and geometry and provides readiness activities for grade one mathematics.

5. Munem, M. and Foulis, D. Algebra and Trigonometry With Applications. New York: Worth Publishers, 1982.

This hard covered text includes most of the content of the Math 300 course, written at an advanced level. The exercises include numerous questions to challenge the student. The text offers worked out examples that show in detail how problems are to be solved and provides problem sets in which the level of difficulty increases gradually.

There are answers to odd numbered problems, Logarithmic Exponential and Trigonometric Tables and an Index of Applications.

The Study Guide is in a semi-programmed format designed for students' use.

A complete Solutions Manual is available.

An Instructors' Test Manual contains tests and answers for each chapter.

O.E.C. - MATHEMATICS

1. Everyday Maths, Books 1 and 2. Learnxs Press.

These texts, written for the Toronto Board of Education and published by Learnxs Press, focus on the application of maths skills to everyday occurrences, with particular reference to consumerism and leisure time, and they are representative of the kind of life skills approach that the O.E.C. program takes.

Although books 1 and 2 are allocated to grades 7 and 8 respectively, teachers may find it appropriate to use them interchangeably. The texts are accompanied by a teacher guide - notes and answers.

2. Math You Need, Book 1. Nelson Canada Ltd., 1981.

This text, published by Nelson Canada Ltd., 1981, also focuses on the application of maths skills to everyday life, with particular reference to maths on the job, at home and related to travel.

It is more advanced than the Everyday Maths, Books 1 and 2, recommended for the grades 7 and 8 levels, but it represents a logical progression in the junior high program and a culmination at the grade 9 level for the more capable students in the program. There is a teacher guide with answers.

O.E.C. - SCIENCE

1. LAMP Project Series. Don Mills: Addison-Wesley, 1981.

The series consists of 16 booklets on topics related to the science of "everyday" concerns/interests. Written by Science Education Teachers in England for "less academically motivated pupils," the booklets contain clearly structured and relatively simple experiments.

The series was designed also for teachers with a limited science teaching background. Two teacher handbooks accompany the series. Since the series was produced through the Association for Science Education in England there are no copyright restrictions.

2. Nuffield Series. Longman Group Ltd.

Three booklets from this series published by the Longman Group Ltd. in England - Communities and Populations, Hearing and Sound and Competition and Predation - have been approved for O.E.C. Science Program, because of their content and because their structure, diagrams and reading level are appropriate to the abilities/skills of the students likely to be in the program.

As with the other series utilized in the program, these booklets are conducive to independent student study.

3. Open Science Series.

Three booklets - Safe Eating, Structures and Finding Out About Machines have been approved in the junior high O.E.C. program because of their content and design, which is quite similar to the Science at Work Series mentioned below.

The Open Science Series is published in England by Hart-Davis Educational, 1979.

A teacher's manual accompanies the series.

4. Science at Work Series. Don Mills: Addison-Wesley, 1981.

The series consists of 18 booklets, each with a teacher's guide, which were developed for "less able" 14-16 year old students. The topics relate to those aspects of science likely to be a part of the students' adult life.

The booklets are clearly illustrated and contain sequential instructions to students at a simple reading level, so that independent student study is facilitated.

SCIENCE

Biology

1. Berry, Gordon S., et al. Biology of Ourselves: A Study of Human Biology. Toronto: John Wiley & Sons, 1982.

This text adequately covers the core in Biology 200 and some topics in Biology 300. In addition, options such as heart health and support and movement are developed. The content includes many applications which illustrate ways whereby human systems can be maintained. Experiments, demonstrations and exercises are included in the text. The reading level is adequate for the average high school student. A teacher's guide is available.

2. B.S.C.S. Biomedical Technology; Human Reproduction: Social and Technological Aspects. Dubuque, Iowa: Kendall/Hunt Publishing Company, 1984.

These titles include both student and teacher guides. The model developed in Science, Technology and Society is applied to varying degrees; however a number of ways to analyze issues are provided. Biomedical Technology includes the topics of genetic screening, in vitro fertilization, prenatal diagnosis and recombinant DNA. Human Reproduction: Social and Technological Aspects includes the topics of pregnancy, prenatal diagnosis, adoption, and population control.

B.S.C.S. Science, Technology and Society. Dubuque, Iowa: Kendall/Hunt Publishing Company, 1984.

These materials introduce students to some general concepts about the nature and relationships among science, technology and society. An approach to decision making and technology assessment is developed. Modification of some of the issues may be necessary because of the use of U.S. examples and laws. Student materials and a teacher's guide are available.

3. B.S.C.S. Human Genetics. Dubuque, Iowa: Kendall/Hunt Publishing Company, 1983.

This material uses genetic content to explore a wide variety of issues. Topics, which are examined, include genetic screening, mutations, amniocentesis, and molecular biology in industry. Instructional strategies are suggested for each topic. Student materials and a teacher's guide are available.

4. Cherniak, Donna and Feingold, Allan. V.D. Handbook. Montreal: Health Press, 1977.

This publication provides detailed information about the nature, incident, tests, and treatment of various diseases. The source is paperback and would be useful as a teacher reference.

5. Kaskel, Albert, et al. Laboratory Biology: Investigating Living Systems (Canadian SI Edition). Toronto: Charles E. Merrill Publishing Company, 1983.

This laboratory guide provides a large number of laboratory activities which support the Biology 200-300 program. The laboratory activities attempt to support students working on their own providing questions in addition to procedures. The laboratory activities tend to develop concepts rather than emphasize a more open inquiry approach. The laboratory activities attempt to use relatively inexpensive materials rather than the more sophisticated approach. The reading level is about grades 9-10. A teacher's guide, which includes some additional activities is available.

6. Kormondy, Edward J. and Essensfeld, Bernie E. Addison-Wesley Biology and Teacher's Resource Book for Addison-Wesley Biology. Don Mills, Ontario: Addison-Wesley Publishing Company, 1984.

This text uses a systems approach to developing the topics. Coverage of the topics is adequate except for the area of diversity of plants. However, areas which are weak are supplemented by diagrams and information in the teacher's resource book. This is a high school text and the reading level is satisfactory for the average high school student. A Teacher's Resource Book is available which contains additional diagrams and content in the reas of human physiology and diversity. In addition, the Resource Book contains essays, sections on laboratory and study skills and additional questions. Teacher's editions for the text and laboratory guides are available.

7. Lewis, John (project director). Science in Society: Teacher's Guide. Agincourt, Ontario: Irwin Publishers, 1981.

These materials were designed to make students aware of the implications of science and technology for society. The teacher's guide provides information about a variety of topics and describes methodology which can be used. The topics, which are outlined in the guide and supported by student modules, can be used in the new Physics and Chemistry programs in addition to Biology. A number of references are U.K. and will have to be changed to adapt to the Canadian situation.

Diseases and the Doctor - Book A
Population and Health - Book B
Medicine and Care - Book C

These three modules can be used to support various parts of the unit "Medicine and Care." Limited numbers of copies can be used as readers to develop either the total unit or a part of the unit in greater detail.

Dental Health Project
Marimbian Health Project

These are packages which include a teacher's guide and student materials. The projects are simulations which examine some specific health oriented questions. The Dental Health Project examines the question of fluoridation and the Marimbian Health Project the needs and resources required to provide an effective health service.

8. Rahn, Joan E. Biology: The Science of Life, second edition. New York: Macmillan Publishing Company, Inc., 1980.

This text adequately covers the core topics in Biology 200 and 300 in depth, except for diversity. Some supplementation of the diversity unit will be required. Depth of coverage is approximately college level; however, principles are presented in a logical manner beginning with fundamental concepts. The text also supports some options such as basic ecology, population ecology, support and movement, and evolution. The reading level is satisfactory for average to above average high school students. No teacher's guide is available.

9. Saskatchewan Department of the Environment. Wetlands Management Case Study. Saskatoon: Western Extension College Educational Publishers, 1978.

This case study kit includes a student's casebook, data bank, wall map, filmstrip and teacher's guide. The case-study approach provides data and directions which will help students to examine and balance potential uses for wetlands. A number of teaching approaches such as simulation, directed inquiry or lecture can be used.

10. Slesnick, Irwin, et al. Scott Foresman Biology. Glenview, Illinois: Scott, Foresman and Company, 1985.

This text adequately covers the core topics in Biology 201 and 301. Some optional topics such as Basic Biology and Disease Causing Organisms are also supported. The text provides both biological content and applications. In addition, the text includes activities, careers and issues in biology. The reading level is satisfactory for the average high school student. A teacher's edition is available.

11. Slesnick, Irwin, et al. Scott Foresman Laboratory Manual. Glenview, Illinois: Scott, Foresman and Company, 1985.

The laboratory manual provides a large number of activities which support the Biology 201-301 program. Procedures and questions are used to lead the student to develop concepts rather than an inquiry approach. The guide attempts to use relatively inexpensive materials where possible. A teacher's guide is available.

12. Volpe, Peter E. Biology and Human Concerns, third edition. Dubuque, Iowa: William C. Brown Company, 1983.

This text is intended for use as a teacher's reference only. It is very useful in extending many of the topics such as cellular biology, human genetics and systems, origin and evolution, and environment and behavior. In addition to basic information, ethnical probes are provided which can be used to stimulate the examination of a variety of biologically related questions.

13. Zahbrobsky, George. Addison-Wesley Biology: Laboratory Manual. Don Mills, Ontario: Addison-Wesley Publishing Company, 1984.

This laboratory manual provides a variety of laboratory activities which support the Biology 200-300 program. However, the number of laboratory activities available in the area of human biology are more limited. The laboratory manual uses procedures, questions, diagrams and charts to help the student to develop a concept. The laboratory activities attempt to use inexpensive materials. A teacher's guide is available.

Physics

1. Henriksen, Peter and Payerle, Paul. Sunburn and Sunscreens. Stony Brook, New York: American Association of Physics Teachers, 1980.

This module includes content on electromagnetic radiation, the role of the atmosphere as a filter and skin damage caused by radiation and sunscreens. Some laboratory projects are suggested; however, equipment needs and safety factors may be quite limiting. Some problem sets and discussion questions are provided. The material may be used as a teacher reference or partial class sets.

2. Lewis, John L. (project director). Science in Society: Energy (Book F). London: Heinemann Educational Books Ltd., 1981. (Canadian representative: Richmond Hill, Ontario: Irwin Publishing Inc.)

This student module contains articles on electrical generation and transmission, nuclear reactions and power, alternative sources of energy, and risks of energy provision. Partial class sets of materials would be satisfactory.

3. Lewis, John L. (project director). Science in Society: Looking to the Future (Book L). London: Heinemann Educational Books Ltd., 1981. (Canadian representative: Richmond Hill, Ontario: Irwin Publishing Inc.)

This student module contains articles on the general relationship among technologies, resources and development, appropriate technologies, the potential impact of the microprocessor, lifestyle, and the relationship between science-technology and quality of life. Partial class sets of materials would be satisfactory.

4. Lewis, John L. (project director). Science in Society: Power Station Project and Science in Society: Alternative Energy Project. London: Heinemann Educational Books Ltd., 1981. (Canadian representative: Richmond Hill, Ontario: Irwin Publishing Inc.)

These are simulations which attempt to have students make decisions using certain variables or criteria. Each package includes a teacher's guide and student materials. These projects supplement or extend the energy units in the Physics 300 course.

5. Lindenfeld, Peter. Radioactive Radiations and Their Biological Effects. Stony Brook, New York: American Association of Physics Teachers, 1984.

This module includes content on background radiation, and readings (for class discussion) dealing with use of radiation, fuel reprocessing, waste disposal and other related areas. Problem sets are present in the material. The material may be used as teacher reference or student materials.

6. Marion, Jerry B. and Rousch, Marvin L. Energy in Perspective, second edition. Toronto: Academic Press, 1982.

This is a soft-cover text which adequately covers the energy options (VI.b.) and also supports the unit on biological effects of radiation. Topics developed include work, power and energy; energy consumption, sources of energy, nuclear power, the effects of nuclear radiation, energy and the environment, and energy in the future. Although U.S.-oriented, the book provides a good overview of many energy sources and technologies. It can be used as a teacher resource or in partial class sets for students.

7. Phillips, Hugh (program director). SEEDS: Energy Technologies and SEEDS: Energy in the Future. Toronto: Science Research Associates (Canada) Ltd., 1983.

These are Canadian modules which examine a variety of alternative energy sources and technologies. The nature of energy sources and technologies, environmental effects, the effect of energy conservation, and future possibilities are emphasized in the modules to different degrees. One or both modules can be used to support different aspects of the energy option(s) in Physics 300. Both content and process are present within the design. Teachers' guides are available.

8. Silverman, Wayne. Earthquake Prediction. Stony Brook, New York: American Association of Physics Teachers.

This module includes content on the characteristics of earthquake waves and their predictive uses, alternate ways of predicting the possibilities of earthquakes, and earthquake theories. Problem sets are present in the material. The material may be used as a teacher reference or partial class sets.

9. Solomon, Joan. Science in a Social Context: How Can We Be Sure? Oxford: Basil Blackwell Publishers Ltd., 1983.

This student module examines induction and deduction, the birth of scientific theories, and the nature of scientific disagreement in less depth or rigour than the Lewis materials do. Although a teacher's guide is available, it is not necessary. Partial class sets of student materials would be satisfactory.

10. Solomon, Joan. Science in a Social Context: Technology, Invention and Industry. Oxford: Basil Blackwell Publishers Ltd., 1983.

This student module examines the ingredients for invention and provides class studies in plastics and microelectronics. It provides an excellent background for examining the relationship between science and technology. Although a teacher's guide is available, it is not necessary. Partial class sets of student materials would be satisfactory.

SOCIAL STUDIES

1. Massey, Donald L. Communities Around the World. Scarborough, Ontario: Ginn and Company, 1984.

This book uses a conceptual approach to Social Studies.

Communities Around the World has been designed to extend students' understanding of the elements that comprise a community as a social and economic unit and of the dynamics of community living. The first chapter provides a format for exploring any community, beginning with one's own. In the next two chapters, the format is applied to two quite different Canadian communities. Chapters 4-10 provide insights into the way people live in communities in other countries - Zaire, Saudi Arabia, Peru, Norway, Australia, India, and The Netherlands.

The Teacher's Resource Book provides teaching suggestions and activities for each chapter as well as a set of Blackline Masters for outline maps and activities.
